2018 EDUCATIONAL INTERIORS SHOWCASE

The first and most-respected competition honoring education interior design excellence

HAVE AN EXCEPTIONAL PROJECT THAT DESERVES NATIONAL RECOGNITION?

Want to showcase your best work to the largest audience? American School & University's Educational Interiors Showcase gives your education project a better forum and more national exposure than any other interiors competition. Not just a seasonal magazine, show display, or online list of projects, this special issue is part of a multi-media brand devoted to the best in educational interiors and facility planning.

The August Educational Interiors Showcase issue will put your school or university project in front of decision-makers in the educational facilities market: American School & University subscribers and thousands of additional AS&U readers who receive the print edition, viewers of the digital edition of the Educational Interiors Showcase, bonus circulation to school boards, and an unlimited audience visiting your project on the industry-leading SchoolDesigns.com site. Plus an extended audience at key industry events. See "Who Sees Your Interiors Showcase Project?" in this brochure for more information about AS&U's unmatched opportunities for exposure.

Enter any project completed in the past five years in one of twenty-seven interior project categories, from administrative spaces to vocational/industrial-arts areas. The Educational Interiors Showcase is the industry guidebook for administrators planning and designing interior learning environments. It's an investment that pays off.

Enter your outstanding projects today for your chance to receive national recognition for you, your project, and your school or university.

More than half of those who receive an American School & University design issue share it - with an average of four colleagues. That means an audience of more than 182,000 can see your project.¹

Education facility professionals who receive American School & University design issues report that they have used them for the following:²

- To find an architect or view their work
- To learn about the latest innovations in education design
- To get ideas for their next project
- To see the latest educational facilities built in their region

Entries are accepted for instructional, administrative and service facilities for public, private and parochial schools of all levels, up to and including technical, community/junior colleges, and colleges and universities. Projects must have been completed after January 1, 2013 or under contract for construction on or before September 1, 2018.

JUDGING

Each year, AS&U carefully selects an independent jury to represent a mix of school administrators and AIA-member architects. The jury evaluates and selects outstanding projects for publication. Primary consideration will be given to the design firm's solution to the stated educational program requirements. The jury will consider:

- Problem statement and technical specifications
- Architect/Designer response to the program requirements
- Aesthetic characteristics of the solution
- Overall presentation of materials

AWARDS & RECOGNITION

CROW ISLAND (K-12) AND COLLEGIATE AWARDS

The jury will select two Grand Prize winners, one in each of the K-12 and post-secondary categories. Deluxe commemorative plaques featuring the project's pages from the magazine will be presented for both the firm and its client.

CITATIONS

The jury will award Gold, Silver and Bronze Citations to additional projects exhibiting exemplary features. Commemorative Citation plaques will be presented for both the firm and its client.

OUTSTANDING DESIGNS

Projects that exhibit outstanding designs or qualities also will be recognized and selected for publication as Outstanding Designs. These projects are an important part of producing the comprehensive sourcebook for administrators that is the Educational Interiors Showcase. A commemorative plaque will be presented to these firms.

COMPLETE THE ATTACHED ENTRY FORM: ENTER TODAY

Complete an entry form for each project you wish to enter and mail or email to: Molly Roudebush, Senior Marketing Manager, American School & University
9800 Metcalf Avenue • Overland Park, KS 66212 • mroudebush@asumag.com

Online entry available at SchoolDesigns.com

Note: Multiple projects from the same firm, or the same project in multiple categories, can be entered and published. Call about special discounts for entering one project in multiple categories. Projects that have been entered in the Architectural Portfolio are eligible for entry in the Educational Interiors Showcase.

UPLOAD PRESENTATION PORTFOLIO: JUDGING STARTS IN MAY

American School & University has a streamlined process to send portfolio materials. When you enter, you receive the link to upload images, description, and project data. Upload all materials from your desktop, using a form that saves your submission as you go. If you are chosen for publication, the materials uploaded will be used to create your page(s) in the magazine. No additional materials will be required.
